DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: in paragraph [0001], line 5, "allowed" should be "U. S. Patent No. 6,728,300 B1"; in paragraph [0036], line 11, "invention." Should be "invention;". Appropriate correction is required.
2. The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 1-9 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of double patenting over claims 1-9 of U. S. Patent No. 6,728,300 B1 since the claims, if allowed, would improperly extend the "right to exclude" already granted in the patent.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the patent and is covered by the patent since the patent and the application are claiming common subject matter, as follows: although claims 1-9 of the instant application are related to apparatus claims while claims 1-9 of U. S. Patent No. 6,728,300 B1 are related to method claims, the apparatus of a telecommunications receiver recited in claim 1 comprising means for performing the same functions as recited in method claim 1 of the U. S. Patent No. 6,728,300 B1 and is operated by a single control processor 1018 of Figure 10. Further, the same subject matters are recited in claims 2-9 of both the instant applicant and the U. S. Patent No. 6,728,300 B1.

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant was prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application during prosecution of the application which matured into a patent. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-9 would be allowable if a terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee is fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b) set forth in this Office action.

6. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art fails to show or suggest an apparatus comprising circuitry for utilizing an auxiliary channel to increase standby time in remote stations that are configured to receive broadcast databurst messages which notification indicators are one or more indicator bits set to indicate to a remote station where it needs to examine a first channel for broadcast databurst messages.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Wright (U. S. Patent No. 6,157,633) is related to a central system for broadcasting information accessible to mobile stations to control messages including control messages at predetermined time intervals and packets of message data respectively addressed to a single mobile terminal.

Wang et al. (U. S. Patent No. 6,480,504 B1) is related to a method and apparatus for maximizing the amount of time that a remote device is sleeping to increase standby time associated with a given battery source.
